GUTKIND

Gutkind Publishers was founded in 2020 with the ambition to publish quality literature: from the singular and demanding to the broadly appealing and entertaining. Gutkind is owned by the Swedish publishing group Bonnier Books, but operates as an autonomous Danish publisher with full editorial independence.

We believe that reading and literature have formative and transformative potential, for individuals and society at large. This gives us a responsibility as publishers: We aim for Gutkind's publications to be highly visible and relevant for readers, and we are devoted to strengthening authors' diverse voices within the public conversation.

From the start, Gutkind has been able to attract established names, both among Danish authors such as Helle Helle, Caroline Albertine Minor, Tine Høeg, etc., and international names including Sally Rooney, Claire Keegan, Angela Merkel etc. Gutkind has been welcomed with lots of attention and affection by press, booksellers, and readers from our very first title,

GYLDENDAL

Founded in 1770, Gyldendal is one of the world's oldest publishers, with a unique history to match. Our offices are located in the company's original 18th century building in downtown Copenhagen. Søren Kierkegaard used to go to school in this very mansion, a fact which leaps to mind on dark and rainy winter mornings when we arrive at work feeling particularly existential.

Gyldendal is Denmark's largest publisher. We stand out in both our Danish and international literary profiles, publishing international authors such as Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, Linn Ullmann, Jonathan Franzen, Han Kang, Herta Müller, Junot Díaz, Alice Munro, Orhan Pamuk, Chris Kraus, Max Porter, J.K. Rowling, Paula Hawkins, Nicole Krauss, Thomas Mann, Sylvia Plath, Jonathan Safran Foer etc. Our Danish list include authors such as Kim Leine, Ida Jessen, Dorthe Nors, Naja Marie Aidt, Tove Ditlevsen, Karen Blixen, Tom Kristensen, Olga Ravn, Christian Jungersen, Jakob Martin Strid, and many others. We have published 51 Nobel Prize winners. We are industry leaders in social media presence and can boast of more than 4 times as many followers on Twitter, Instagram, and Facebook as our closest competitor.
